TO ALL WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

I am very sorry to hear that the report is in circulation that I accuse one of the boys of Gabriel Chavez of being concerned in the robbery of my watch by the Vasequez gang of robbers. In the excitement I made the remark that I thought I recognized one of them as being a boy that had worked for me, and one of Gabriel Chavez's boys. Since seeing him, I am satisfied of my mistake, and have frequently said so.

May Day in the Southern Part of the County.

EDITOR HERALD: Perhaps a few items in regard to the May Day picnic in the southern part of the county would not be uninteresting to your numerous readers. The proceedings are as follows:

At 9 o'clock A. M., May Day, as per previous arrangement, the Granges of Fairview, Orange, Fruitland, Westminster and Vineland assembled at Santa Ana; and at 10 o'clock formed in procession in the order of Granges above named. Members were clothed in full regalia, preceded by the Richard brass band (called by some who know no better, "Pete band"). The procession, a full mile in length, proceeded to a grove of majestic old sycamores about a mile from Tustin City. Arriving on the ground, we found in the midst of the beautiful carpet of green, spread by Nature's God, a speaking platform and music stand arranged for the ladies, ala Fourth of July. The most liberal estimate of the number present was placed at one thousand souls. There was a goodly sprinkling of merry young souls; but then, you know, this is the fault of all new countries, and not of the people. Everything passed off quiet and orderly. Not a drunken or half drunken man was to be found in that large assemblage of sturdy tillers of the soil. The Crusaders would find no work among this people, and by way of parenthesis, write this down, Editor, to the credit of those who are not versed in political science.

ORDER OF EXERCISES.
The exercises commenced with music by the Pi—no! the Richard band.
Prayer by Bro. C. Gridley.
Speech by Bro. T. A. Garey, District Deputy.
Address by Bro. E. Evey, Master of Fairview Grange.
A poem by Bro. Taylor.
Reading, the "Declaration of Purposes of the National Grange" by Bro. T. A. Garey.
Business speech by Bro. William R. Olden.
The above programme fully interspersed with music by the band.

PICNIC.
And such a picnic—talk about fragments, I never before saw just such a fragmentary crowd as I saw here. Let me say right here that farmers have the most destructive appetite of any people on earth. The reason why I cannot tell, unless it is because they do not understand the science of "assessment and equalization," and the actual cash value of property. But as they can empty baskets of good wholesome food faster than any other people, perhaps they may become in the good time coming (Millennium, I mean) adepts in political and cash value science. Yours forever,
T. A. G.

A Crusade Drink.

EDITOR HERALD: I desire to call the attention of the Good Templars, Champions of the Red Cross, Ladies' Temperance Union, and temperance people generally, to the importance of establishing a drinking fountain in this city. I would suggest a plan: Establish a drinking fountain at the Postoffice, with faucet and cup attached; have the pipe leading to the faucet coiled and packed in ice. In this manner a good, cool drink can be had by the public at any time of day or night, at a point where men, women and children most do congregate. The running expenses of this drinking fountain can be easily met by putting up a contribution box, into which patrons could occasionally drop a piece of change, and thousands would be glad to purchase a place to get a good cool drink of water by buying them for ten cents a week. There are scores of people who would contribute half a dollar each to start this fountain. Will the lodges interested in the use of cold water as a beverage take the initial step in this matter?

COLDWATERITE.

A Correction.
EDITOR HERALD: I wish, through the columns of your valuable paper, to correct an error which appears over the cognomen of "Anon," May 1, 1874. He says: "The articles of incorporation for the Odd Fellows' Building Association for Odd Fellows' Building Association came to hand yesterday from Sacramento, O. K." That may be true, and I presume is; but the assertion that it is an Odd Fellows' Association is not true. It is not authorized by any Lodge of Odd Fellows, or sanctioned by such. It is true that Odd Fellows own stock in the corporation—so they do in the Central Pacific Railroad corporation; but that does not make it an Odd Fellows' Association. We state these facts that brother Odd Fellows may buy stock in this corporation understandingly, if they desire to purchase. Other Odd Fellows have time and again made their solemn protest against this corporation using our name, but still they persist.
AN ODD FELLOW.
LOS NIETOS, May 4, 1874.

A Calm Reply to a Blackguard Attack.

Some days ago an editorial paragraph appeared in the columns of the HERALD, based on the authority of an exchange, that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company would not in future run their Panama steamers into San Diego harbor, and that the company required all passengers by these steamers for Panama to start from San Francisco. To the announcement we appended remarks to the effect that the company would injure its business and discommode the people of San Diego by adhering to this arrangement. On the authority of a thoroughly informed employee of the company, we, in a later issue of the HERALD, stated that the company did not land their passengers at San Diego, because they considered it dangerous to do so with the class of steamers now employed on the Panama route. This was a semi-official statement made in the light of an explanation, and without a thought of injuring San Diego or her harbor. But for making it, the San Diego World of May 2d, denounces the editor of the HERALD as "an official liar," a "mendacious creature," and the utterer of a "dastardly falsehood." These expressions are framed and garlanded with the intelligent terms that usually comprise the vocabulary of a blackguard. It is gratifying to us, and we believe it is also to himself, to know that Mr. LYNCH, the long time able and gentlemanly editor of the World, had severed his connection with the paper before the policy of substituting billingsgate for argument was adopted by its publishers. The HERALD is the advocate of every interest of Southern California—of those of San Diego as well as those of Los Angeles and Wilmington. It does not, however, believe that misrepresentation—claiming advantages we do not possess, and asserting as facts what investigation will prove false—will add to our permanent prosperity. It is possible to induce immigration by misrepresentation, but it is not possible to compel people who come and find themselves deceived to remain. The truth and nothing but the truth, without varnish or double meaning, concerning Southern California, will convince people at a distance that this country possesses many advantages over almost any other portion of the known world. The truth is all that need be told; it is all our people desire should be told. To say that the last time the Constitution, a vessel of 4,100 tons, went into San Diego harbor, she touched on the bar, is but saying what her officers assert. To say that she could enter Wilmington harbor without encountering a like danger, would be to assert a falsehood. Yet we expect to make Wilmington harbor so that the Constitution, and vessels of even larger tonnage may enter with safety; we expect that San Diego harbor will receive such improvements that the Company will never again be able to say the Constitution touched bottom on the bar. It is true that the company will not allow three of the five steamers now on the Panama route to enter San Diego harbor, and it is also true that they will not risk these steamers in Wilmington harbor; yet we do not try our hand at a fish-woman oratory against every person who chances to utter what we all know to be a fact. There is a bar at the entrance of San Francisco harbor, and the San Diego World has been screaming over its dangers for months, yet San Francisco's commerce has not fallen off greatly, nor do the journals of the city go into raptures over the World's bar paragraphs. All harbors have bars. We have a bar down at Wilmington, but we are going to dig it away, and we expect the little danger to very large vessels in crossing the San Diego people or the Government. Danger is more easily avoided when one knows that it exists. The Steamship Company have discovered that it is dangerous to land their largest steamers at San Diego. They say this, and to people of sense and honor it would seem a better plan to go to work and remove the danger than to try to cover it up or deny its existence.

Our Manufacturing Prospects.

California should and doubtless in time will become the greatest manufacturing State in the Union. Within her borders Nature has poured with a lavish hand the raw material of every kind that men need in creating nearly everything they require, or have learned how to use. Less than twenty years ago no one dreamed or thought of the varied mineral wealth we have since discovered dwelling within those rugged hills, "rock-ribbed and ancient as the sun." Turn back that little time—only a score of years—and we find men seeking for gold and laughing at the idea, if suggested, that California would soon become the greatest wheat producing State in the nation. We see ahead but dimly; still time rolls on and unrolls the little panorama that begins and ends our life. Now there are plenty of men who fancy themselves shrewd and whom others admit to be bright business men, who, while conceding all that is claimed for California—her iron, lead, tin, copper, coal and marble mountains—will argue that she cannot become a manufacturing State, because money is worth too much; that it can be better invested than in building manufacturing. This is as true now as it was that California was not a great wheat growing State twenty years ago. Perhaps ten or twenty years hence money will not rate as high as at present. Perhaps, within that period, money will rate as proportionately cheap as it is now disastrously high. We are realizing millions of dollars annually from our mines, and we are not buying as heavily abroad as formerly. Money is accumulating within our State. It will accumulate more rapidly in the coming days than in those of the present. There is more money in San Francisco now than ever before. There is little demand for it at one and one quarter per cent per month. It would all be actively employed at five per cent per annum. The accumulation will go on, and the rates of interest will come down. The banks cannot much longer control the money of this State. The task was light once; it is Herculean now; it will become impossible soon. We shall exchange twenty-five or thirty million dollars worth of wheat this year for the coin of outside nations. This, added to the proceeds of our mines, will increase the home capital largely next year. California will change from a place where interest rated higher than elsewhere to a State where it foots up less than any place in the world. Once she starts out on her manufacturing career, she will advance rapidly. Her surplus money will be used in that direction. The question of labor will not interfere. Like money, its abundance or scarcity regulates its value. Population is coming, and the demand for artisans and mechanics will command the supply. The climate and productiveness of California will always enable her people to save more money from the world's average wages than elsewhere. Ours is now the greatest mining State, she is one of the greatest wheat growing States, and she will become one of the greatest manufacturing States over which the waving Stars and Stripes give evidence of a free and intelligent people.

The Governor will remove the wreck of the Patrie from the entrance of San Francisco harbor.

Can a farmer be a banker and still be a farmer? is a question troubling a good many people nowadays. The Grange's Bank may do something in the way of solving the problem. Without the farmer, we could not be much of anything, and we cannot see why he should not be a good deal of everything.

The San Diego World of May 1st, announces the withdrawal of JOSEPH W. LYNCH from its editorial staff. Mr. LYNCH has made the World a lively and interesting paper, and his articles have done much to make San Diego known abroad. His future location or occupation is not stated, but we trust his lines may be cast in pleasant places.

A Narrow Gauge Failure.

Something over one year ago the Benicia Narrow Gauge Railroad Company commenced grading their road, under circumstances which seemed favorable for an early completion of a narrow gauge railroad through the richest portion of the Sacramento Valley. The road was surveyed from Benicia to Red Bluff. After some ten miles of track had been graded the work ceased, ostensibly on account of a difficulty with the Chinese employees, but the real cause was an exhaustion of funds on hand. An assessment was levied on the stock, but no considerable amount was paid in and no effort was apparently made to collect what was really due. Things dragged. Somebody had fastened a heavy weight to the enterprise, and its motion gradually slackened until it finally ceased to move. The Directors announce that they have expended $40,000, and now abandon the work. The whole affair is strongly suggestive of a "nigger in the fence." If the company have expended $40,000, whose money was it? Certainly not their own. But did they spend that amount of money? There is no doubt but that the stockholders are out that amount, and it is a fact as strong as proof of Holy Writ that they will never get it back again. The contemplated road was popular with the people interested in its construction. It would have been a strong competitor of the California and Oregon Railroad, which runs up on the east side of the river and, crossing at Tehama, passes through Red Bluff, and it would have destroyed the monopoly the railroad company's boats now hold on the upper Sacramento. The fact that the road would have done all this is hinted at as the reason why it is not built. It is due to the people who subscribed their money in good faith to the enterprise, and but justice to the Directors, if they are honest, that a clear statement be made of how much money was spent, and the true reason given for the abandonment of the work. A suspicion that a company may be influenced by another company to abandon a work is calculated to destroy public confidence and retard real honest and greatly desired undertakings, the success of which depend upon the cordial support of the people.

A CREMATION SOCIETY is forming in San Francisco. All who would rather be burned on earth than roasted after they leave here are eligible to membership.

The fact that the New York Herald publishes a message from the President to Governor KELLOGG of Louisiana, which is signed A. S. GRANT, has caused the enquiry: Has General GRANT changed his name again?

The San Francisco Chronicle says it has published a story which the Call will copy for the delectation of Barbara Coast and the back alleys. This is intended as a fling at the Call, but seems to be a sort of boomerang that comes back to the Chronicle. Why does a respectable paper publish a story that will be reprinted for the delectation of disreputable people?

The Post asks: "Why should not women go about as freely as men?" This is the answer: Because women do not wish to go about alone, and men do not wish them to go about alone. When women do not love to be escorted, and men do not love to escort them, GABRIEL may as well sound his bugle; moonlight nights will have lost their sweetness.

Bilbao is resuming its wonted appearance. Trade is reviving. The obstructions placed in the river Nervion, to prevent the approach of the Government war vessels were removed yesterday. The priest lately discharged from the lunatic asylum attended to assassinate Margale. He shot twice at Margale, and missing him, shot himself fatally.

Great Britain to Have the Fiji. LONDON, May 4.—Intelligence from Fiji state that the King and people unanimously favor the cession of the islands to Great Britain.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Another Victim to the Kettle-Turn Vermin.—Bank Robbery—Hiding Stock Market Week.—A Powder Suit.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—Johnson, who was stabbed by Green a few weeks since, from the effects of which he died soon after, was held to answer to-day by the Police Court on the charge of murder. The Turn Vermin conclude their annual festivities at Woodward's Gardens to-night with a grand ball. There is a large attendance to-day at the Gardens to witness their games and gymnastic exercises. The National Gold Bank and Trust Company will pay a dividend of 14 per cent to-morrow. The British war steamer Tundus will remain here three days and then sail for Callao. The mining stock market continues weak, and the advice of operators that this is a splendid time to buy is not accepted by many persons. The continued shrinkage of prices has caused widespread distrust, and a panic is threatened. The Giant Powder Company has sued the California Powder Company, for the purpose of establishing plaintiff's right to the exclusive use of Dynamite or Giant Powder.

KERN COUNTY.

BAKERSFIELD, May 2.—John Tulley is undergoing examination for the murder of Sarah Bolles. The murder occurred at Kernville in March. Frank Ganahl and B. Brundage are counsel for the defense. The evidence is strong, but purely circumstantial. Stanford, Haggin, Billy Carr, Judge Sanderson and others of that standard, representing about $100,000,000, are in town, looking after their interests and to locate their railroad town at this point. Whether it will be in our town or not, we cannot say. The railroad will be here by the 1st of July.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. Helen Marble takes great pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of some of the finest photographs she has ever had taken in California, from the photographic parlors of Mr. Wolfenstein of this city. In her opinion, he is the most accomplished artist on this coast, and cannot fail to give satisfaction to the most critical or fastidious.
